

DANIEL A. BRUCE

In July of 1978 Daniel Allen Bruce was born the son of Charles & Debra Bruce, residents of Altona NY. Daniel cut his teeth on the smell of cow manure and the rituals of manual labor. At the age of 7 they moved with his older brother Matthew to Saranac Lake in the Adirondack Park. These cultural geographies provided him with a connection and belief in the idea of diversity, imperative to the natural world and humanity. At age 17 he graduated from Saranac Lake High School and then Munson-Williams-Proctor Arts Institute in 1998. He then transferred to Rhode Island School of Design to complete his BFA and later received his MFA from Tyler School of Art in 2008. He now lives and works in New York City with his life partner of 10 years, David Mishalanie.
